

Come to the July 11 Upper Harbor Terminal Input Review Meeting

June 30, 2016

The community is invited to review a summary of community input about Upper Harbor Terminal site redevelopment that was provided at two recent open houses and other events.

When: Monday, July 11; 4:30 – 5:30 pm, open house
5:30 – 7:30 pm, meeting

Where: North Regional Library, 1315 Lowry Ave. N., second floor meeting room

The open house from 4:30 to 5:30 pm will be informal and family-friendly and will give you an opportunity to review the draft staff community input summaries, share your input and see what community members have been saying.

The meeting from 5:30 to 7:30 pm will include a staff presentation and then discussion of the draft community input summaries, including some questions that will be included in the request for qualifications (RFQ) seeking a developer partner. The summarized information that results from this meeting will be included in the RFQ to be issued to potential Phase 1 developers later in July.

This meeting also will include a preview of the planned community discussions over the summer to formulate an engagement strategy that will be used when the planning process with the selected developer begins next year.

Light refreshments will be provided, and family members are welcome.
